

Technology Lesson

I am using the online program Edmodo to facilitate discussion and collaboration among my students beyond the classroom setting.

- Edmodo is used to discuss various topics as they read on their own at home.
 - A question is posted about the current reading.
 - The students comment on the question and interact with each other
- Edmodo is also used to practice questions on the Common Core standards to prepare for the upcoming PARCC test.
 - Each week two Edmodo assignments are posted.
 - The students complete them on their own time.
 - When the assignments are complete, I evaluate the information broken down by students and standards to figure out and address the common weaknesses.
 - The following week's Edmodo assignment is based on this evaluation.
