

TECHNOLOGY

The use of filming and editing video for the musical is one of my examples. Collaborating with Mrs. Siegrist proved to be a very valuable lesson for the cast of our show. It gave the students in the video a snapshot of how filming works using multiple takes to acquire different shot angles, and editing to create a cohesive narrative throughout. Incorporating multimedia into an otherwise live musical was also an added bonus since we had never done that before.

Another form of technology I use regularly is Flubaroo for quick grading assessment. Paired with Google Forms, it saves on the use of paper and ink, saves time from distributing/collecting paper and grading, and teaches students to use mobile devices productively.
